

ForumBored.

IS a media discussion search engine that utilizes elements from various websites to create a unique community experience.

“Forum-bored” is a search engine that connects users by generating specific search results from different websites to create discussion amongst communities. It uses embedded website functions to link users to additional and related information about the topic they introduce. It is essentially a combination of search engines that doubles as a video player with discussion forums as a comment section.

Personas

Doug is a gamer who wants to keep up with all of the news and chats about his favorite titles. He is also a streamer who enjoys watching and sharing gaming-related content.

Sarif is a film student who likes to engage in discussions about obscure cult-classic and indie films in his free-time.

Austin is a DJ and music enthusiast who avidly searches the web for the best music.

